Gandhiji's mother was a very sweet, kind and religious woman. She visited the temple daily, often taking her little son with her. She fasted frequently too. Once she made a vow to eat only one meal a day for four months, and not take even that one meal unless she had first seen sunshine. As she had made this vow in the rainy season it was difficult to see the sunshine at all. Her children who could not bear to think of their dear mother going without food all the twenty four hours, would stand staring up at the sky, waiting to catch the first beams of the Sun. As soon as a ray appeared, they would dash into the room and call the mother to come and see for herself. By the time she came out the sun had often gone behind the clouds again. "It does not matter", she would say cheerfully "God does not want me to eat today" and back to her house hold tasks. In this way Gandhiji learned from his good mother how to penance cheerfully to love of god.
